Story links King plot, local motel

By Wire Services and Staff Writers

A hideaway motel in Apalachin reportedly was the scene of a 1968 meeting where FBI and CIA agents offered former gangland kingpin Carlo Gambino $1 million to kill Martin Luther King Jr., Scripps-Howard Newspapers said yesterday.

The allegation was made by an inmate at the Ohio Penitentiary Reception and Treatment Center in Columbus. Gambino reportedly rejected the offer.

The report said the inmate, Myron Billett, set up a secret meeting in January 1968, at a motel in Apalachin between the FBI and CIA agents and Gambino, who has since died.

The name and location of the motel could not be determined last night and it was not known if the motel is still in business.

Apalachin was the scene of a 1957 state police raid of a convention by organized crime bosses, hosted by the late Joseph Barbara Sr.

Scripps-Howard Newspapers, in a copyrighted story by William Pillar, said Billett, 52, alias Paul Buccilli, will be questioned by Ed Evans, chief investigator for the House Select Committee on Assassinations in Washington.

Gambino rejected the offer and later passed the word that no gangland family would accept the offer to kill King, Billett said.

Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, chairman of the assassinations committee, said he ordered Evans to investigate the allegations after Scripps-Howard asked Stokes if a letter sent by Billett to House Speaker Thomas O'Neill had been turned over to the committee.

O'Neill's office told the newspapers that the letter had not been located.

"We will be in touch with Billett to check out his story," Evans said.

Apalachin talks of motels

By DAVID POPPICK

APALACHIN — Some residents and motel managers in Apalachin were puzzled yesterday by reports that a motel in the hamlet may have been the site of a meeting where CIA and FBI agents offered a former gangland chief $1 million to kill Martin Luther King Jr.

The House Select Committee on Assassinations in Washington yesterday said it will question an inmate at an Ohio penitentiary who claims he set up the secret meeting with Carlo Gambino in 1968. The motel was not identified.

Some residents and motel managers of this Tioga County community expressed mixed feelings about their town hitting the limelight as a gangland gathering place. None of those who were interviewed could say where the meeting may have been held.

"It just looks bad for the town. But some people say it is unlikely that the Mafia would have returned to the scene of the crime after 7" said one resident.

In 1957, state police raided a convention of organized crime bosses at the Apalachin home of the late Joseph Barbara Sr.

"Sure it could have happened. A lot of weird people and things happened here when we were open. But if they came, I would think they'd have been quiet and inconspicuous about it. I can't remember anything about it," said one motel manager, Donna Tryon.

Tryon helped her father Stanley Payne manage an 11-cabin motel between West Main Street and Route 434 until it was closed in 1969.

Albert Vizak, manager of the Real Motel on the border of Tioga and Broome counties, said he doubted that his motel was used for the meeting.

Ray Sawyer, who managed another motel on Route 434, said his cabins were closed during the winter and could not have been used.

There are two other motels in the Apalachin area: the Apalachin Tavern, which has motel rooms, and the Bennett Motel, on the border of Broome and Tioga counties.

4929 as the leader of the civil rights movement.

4930 The Chairman. And what was there, given the kind of tone
4931 that was set from the top by Mr. Hoover, the realization
4932 that he wanted Dr. King destroyed, and with that notion
4933 being prevalent throughout the entire bureau, and trickling
4934 all the way down to men like Rose who came in this afternoon
4935 and admitted under oath that he was racially prejudiced,
4936 with the knowledge existing throughout the entire bureau
4937 that Hoover wanted him destroyed, what would stop some agent
4938 from feeling that he could with impunity kill Dr. King?

4939 Mr. Brennan. I think that is an extreme supposition. I
4940 think that the people in the FBI, at least on the basis of 4941 my personal experience over the years that I worked in the 4942 FBI for more than 26 years, were men of great dedication and
4943 integrity, and I would say that that would be a far-out
4944 extreme case.

4945 Now I am not saying that we never had any bad apples in
4946 the FBI, and that somebody would not consider doing a bad
4947 thing, but I would be shocked and amazed if any individual

4948 in the FBI ever did consider such a step.

4949 The Chairman. Were you shocked and amazed that it was 4950 testified to here that when Mr. Rose heard Dr. King had been 4951 killed he expressed joy, and used the term "They got the 4952 SOB"? Did that shock and amaze you?

4953 Mr. Brennan. That shocked me, yes. I don't see how any 4954 man, particularly the men of the caliber, of the type that
4955 we try to get into the FBI, would be joyful over that type
4956 of assassination.

4957 The Chairman. Regrettably, Mr. Rose is still with the 4958 FBI.

4959 Mr. Brennan. Well, sir, that is not of my doing.

4960 The Chairman. I do not fault you for that. I fault the 4961 system for keeping him.

4962 The gentleman from the District of Columbia, Mr. Fauntroy.

4963 Mr. Fauntroy. Mr. Chairman, I have no questions. I am
4964 exhausted.

4965 The Chairman. The gentleman from Ohio, Mr. Devine.

4966 Mr. Devine. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.
